Mr. Vaddey, or his representative, had called n him and stated that if he did not have he money convenient for the trip he could loan it to him (Epps). Mr. Epps eplied to the effect that it would cramp Next day Mr. Epps called on Mr. Mount-castle and stated the proposition that had been made to him, and was informed to him (Mountcastle). They decided to accept the loan, which he then stated he regretted very much and would like to be in a position to return it. I stated that I thought that I could arrange it for him. Bepresenting Mr. Starke and he Mr. Boox I thought the William of the Mr. Boox I thought Mr. Epps was favorable to his company; about the Waddey loan and about returning that loan, which I did. Mr. Booz replied loan, which I did, Mr. Booz replied that he was glad that Mr. Epps favored his work, and that he would be glad to advance the money to me to loan Mr. Eops, which he did the next day in Philadelphia. It having set in snowing so hard the committee abandoned their trip to Roston and the two factories. Mr. Epps Expressed Opinions. On other occasions did I hear Mr. Epps speak favorably of Booz's work; once on our return to Philadelphia, after Mr. Booz had explained the construction of cases and the manner in which the steel was manipulated. We agreed to meet under the Theatre, Mr. Bloomlinck's place, which we did about 7 o'clock, Mr. Ploomlinck was present and not a daylor as hear hear persent (and not a darkey, as has been testified to), saw the money paid, although he was behind the bar, and has referred to it several times since. On receiving the money Mr. Pone made this statement: That he would give the currency to his crother-in-law, Mr. James Phillips, get is check and take it to Mr. Waddey which thought he did. I desire further to way intended or accepted as a bribe. As way way way intended or accepted as a bribe. As was with this committee for the purose of representing the Fenton Metallic ompany, through their agent, Mr.

I stated in the beginning that I did not care to go into the details of this matter when I was first before this committee, nor would I do it now, had it not been for so much conflicting testimony. All that I have said is as I recollect, and I believe it to be true, so much so, that I would be willing to make oath to it. I have no regrets at what I have done, and under similar circumstances would do so again. It is evident, from my first testimony, the reason that I did not go into details was because of my kind feelings towards Mr. Epps, and for the same reason I thought it best that he should pay the note of $100, so that in his testimony he could say that the note had been paid.

As to some of the petty personal attacks and insinua 2 ns, which should have been made elsewhere. I do not propose, at this time and place, to pay any attention to them, as they should never have been introduced, and are of no interest to this investigation, or committee. I have detailed to the committee all that I can recollect of importance on this subject. I am now willing to answer subject. I am now willing to answer every question that may directly apply to the loan of $100, or as to Mr. Epps having expressed any opinion as to which was the best work. I do not propose to answer anything that I consider personal, or that does not directly pertain to these questions.

When questioned by Mr. Meredith, wirness stated that he requested a friend to write the note signed "a friend," which was sent to Mr. Epps last Thursday, so that the latter, when called to the stand, could say that the note had been paid. He did not desire to write the note himself. He was talking to his friend at the time about the whole matter and the time about the whole matter and the note, and remarked that the note ought to be paid, and subsequently asked his friend to write the note. He did not think that Mr. Epps would have withheld any thing from the committee afterwards, when he said the note had been paid. He supposed that Mr. Epps felt worried after he had borrowed money from the witness. The lean, however, was accepted after mature thought. As far as knew, all who went North understood that witness represented the Fenton Company. He attended the various sup-pers, but did not take any active part lesuing invitations. He was presen when Mr. Booz invited Mr. Epps at his shop to take supper with him at Mur-phy's Hotel. This came about in the fol-lowing manner: It was reported that Mr. Waldey or some one had taken cus-tomers to the county court-house to show them.

When questioned by Mr. Waddey, witness stated that all the book cases in the county clerk's office bore the name of the makers, the Fenton Metallic C tion, when Mr. Belvin said that he would not answer any question that was con-nected with Mr. Werner's statement to committee. Mr. Guigon explained Mr. Werner had stated witness had not desire to go into the matter, and that he had no recollection of it. He admitted, however, that he might have made such statement to Mr. Eyps, and he would neither deny or affirm the assertion. day prior to his conversation with Mr. Guigon over the telephone. He asked him to pay the note that day, begause he had a right to do so. He admitted that, upon Mr. Meredith's suggestion, he had agreed to withdraw Mr. Epps note from the bank to show it to the note from the bank to show it to the committee, if necessary, but subsequently advised Mr. Epps to pay the note, because he rather wished to have Mr. Epps come before the committee and state that the

note had been paid.

To Mr. White witness stated he did not remember the night when he told Mr. Epps that the berrowed money belonged to Mr. Booz. After a while, however, he refreshed his memory and continued as follows:

when Mr. Eaps came in with severa others. I forget how it happened, but told him that I losned him Mr. Booz' money. Mr. Epps came up to me and said Mr. Booz's money. Mr. Epps came up to me and said Mr. Booz had asked him for $100 which he owed him, but he (Epps) understood that he got it from witness. That is all I recollect now, and I do not remember that Mr. Epps said I should have told him before that it was Mr. Booz's menor."

Question by Mr. Gulgon: What time did you pay back the money to Mr. Booz.

Answer: It is my business, when I returned the money to Mr. Booz. I refuse to answer any question connected with the Fenton Metallic Works until Mr. Booz. omes here. In his presence I am willing

It being suggested that Mr. Starke be summoned to prove his signature to the letter above referred to, the committee ook a recess of ten minutes at 9:50 o'clock. Mr. Starke could not be found, nowever, and Mr. Mann stated that it had been suggested that each member of the Grounds and Buildings Committee make an explanatory statement in refer make an expanatory statement in refer-ence to their action in voting as they did on the letting of the contracts.

Mr. Guigon disagreed with Mr. Mann, stating that several of the Grounds and Buildings Committee had already made statements explaining their votes, and that while the committee would be glad to hear from any one of the Grounds and make a voluntary statement, he thought it would be assuming an arrogant posi-tion on the part of the committee to sub-tect the members of the Grounds and Buildings Committee to such a position. Mr. Noble stated that since the rumors in reference to certain members of the Grounds and Buildings Committee had teen made public, he thought it would be better to allow the individual members of voted for certain lidders, and hence he had suggested the idea. As for himself, he didn't know anything that would throw any light on the investigation. After careful examination of the merits of the goods submitted for the inspection of the comon the merits of the same. He was noder lowest bidder, after Colonel Cutshaw had recommended certain modifications, which

Mr. Waddey then said that he would like to ask each member of the Grounds and Buildings Committee a question: 'Did I, or any one representing me, or any one representing my interests, ever ask you to vote for my bid, or use any influence to induce you to cast your vote for my bid, on any other grounds than that my goods were superior to any others submitted to the Grounds and Buildings Committee for consideration? he asked.

Mr. Guigen further stated that Mr. Booz had stated in a former letter that if the committee would allow him to summon witnesses, and would sit in continuous session to hear all their tinuous session to hear all their testi-mony, he (Booz) would come to Richmond and attend the meeting of the committee. Mr. Guigon moved that Mr. Booz be al-lowed to summon such witnesses as he wished, and that the committee prolong the session on that occasion within rea-sonable limits. This was adopted, and the committee adjourned.
